West To Place Ambulance At Berlin Wall

BERLIN—The three Western commandants in West Berlin and Mayor Willy Brandt announced today that a Western ambulance will be stationed at the Communist wall in future to give aid to any East German refugees shot by East German border guards.

The announcement was made at a meeting of U.S., British and French representatives and Brandt.

It said they agreed that measures must be taken to prevent a repetition of events last Friday when an East German youth "was left by Vopos (East German police) to bleed to death after they shot him down in the process of scaling the wall."

The ambulance will be stationed at Checkpoint Charlie, the crossing point in the American sector where the youth was shot and died before the eyes of U.S. soldiers.

The statement said the anti-Communist violence and battles between West Berlin demonstrators and West Berlin police that grew out of the Friday incident "plays into Communist hands and must not occur."

Angola Visit Barred To UN

LISBON (Reuters)—Portugal today refused again to permit a United Nations committee to visit its African territories of Angola and Mozambique.

The foreign ministry told the UN committee on territories under Portuguese administration that its request to visit the territories would be answered only after the committee had visited Goa, the tiny Portuguese territory seized last December by India.

Vernon's Entry For PNE Looked 'Extremely Bad'

VERNON (Staff)—The decision not to send Vernon's Winter Carnival float to the mammoth Pacific National Exhibition parade last Saturday has proved embarrassing to local businessmen and set off a chain of excuses, charges and counter-charges.

Vernon's contribution to the biggest parade in western Canada was a 1956 Cadillac convertible. From the multi-thousand dollar Pentleton Peach Festival float and the Kelowna Regatta float which copped second prize in the parade, as well as a float from Armstrong.

Interior Woodworkers Accept New Pay Scale

VANCOUVER (CP)—Woodworkers in British Columbia's southern interior have voted to accept a new contract granting a 10-cent-an-hour increase over two years, Jack Moore, regional president of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) announced today.

The settlement proposal which will affect some 5,000 workers in the southern interior, resulted from recommendations of a conciliation officer and had been recommended for acceptance by the union's policy committee.

IWA settlements have already been negotiated with operators in the northern interior where the workers will get a 10-cent-an-hour increase over two years and in the big coastal logging district where workers will get 15 cents an hour, also over two years.

The southern interior settlement proposal provides for a two-year renewal of the present master agreement which expires Aug. 31, with a wage

Wind Rips Water Tower Into Two-Death Fall

CLEVELAND (AP)—A rooftop water tower, pried loose by storm winds that ranged up to 100 miles an hour in gusts, plunged through five floors of a west side factory Monday night, leaving two workmen dead and a third believed missing beneath tons of rubble.

At least 10 other persons were injured in the line squall which roared in off Lake Erie and swept across the city.

Firemen worked through the night at the Monarch Aluminum Manufacturing Company looking for bodies of the three workmen trapped when the 50,000-gallon water tower fell.

They freed another workman whose leg was pinned by tons of concrete. Two bodies were sighted in the rubble early today, but they had not been freed from the rubble.

Abducted Girl May Be Dead

BEETON, Ont. (CP)—The fear that 10-year-old Thomasina Baker may be dead has been voiced by police and others searching for her through the farmlands surrounding this community 50 miles north of Toronto.

No ransom note has been received for the little blonde girl who stepped into a stranger's car Sunday.

Police said today that unless the kidnapper took her out of the area and still has her captive, there is little chance she is still alive.

Insp. James Harris of the provincial police said: "We have nothing to go on. We check everything that comes in but nothing concrete has turned up."

Soldiers and police with bloodhounds, aided by local residents and farmers, backed up by four light aircraft, scoured the area Monday without success. Today 30 RCAF men joined the search.

U.S. Needs Big Boosters To Catch Up To 'Twins'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary McNamara said today that "I think we will not be able to match" the Soviet twin orbiting of communications until the United States has bigger boosters.

But he told reporters that the new Titan III booster, for which a contract was awarded Monday, would have "two to three times... closer to three... the thrust" of the launching boosters used now by Russia.

About $800,000,000 will be spent for development of the Titan booster, he said.

McNamara also said he asked U.S. Air Force experts today about a report that the two Russian space vehicles joined together at one point in their flight and the answer of the air force experts "was definitely no."

A report that the craft came together was published by Aviation Week magazine.

Miraculous Survival As Jetliner Blazes

RIO DE JANEIRO — A Brazilian jetliner with more than 100 persons aboard skidded off the runway on takeoff Monday night, plowed through a thick concrete seawall and dived into Guanabara Bay. But, miraculously, about 80 of the passengers were rescued or scrambled to safety.

Officials said at least 13 persons were killed and 21 were in hospital with shock, burns and other injuries in Brazil's fourth major air disaster in 10 months.

They said 11 passengers were missing but some were known to have survived and left the airport in the confusion without notifying anyone.

The exact number of persons aboard the plane was still in doubt today. Conflicting reports put the total at between 101 and 104.

The big DC-8 stayed afloat for 15 minutes after hitting the water and then sank to the muddy bottom in 15 feet of water.

"We think some bodies may still be in the plane," a fire department official said.

The Pan Air to Brasil jetliner stopped here on a flight from Buenos Aires, Argentina, to Lisbon, Portugal.

All-Out Search Goes On For Smallpox Contacts

Faced with the all-but-impossible task of tracking down everyone who had even remote contact with a young smallpox victim, health authorities in Canada and the United States are continuing their efforts to prevent any spread of the virulent disease.

Laboratory tests Monday confirmed that James William Orr, 14-year-old son of an Alberta missionary, is suffering from smallpox. He has been isolated since Saturday in a Toronto hospital.

"There is no cause for alarm," said a statement from the office of Health Minister Matthew Dymond of Ontario, "an epidemic is not anticipated."

But everywhere, there was stress on the need for vaccination.

The boy arrived in Toronto 10 days ago after travelling from Brazil to New York by plane and thence by train to Toronto. His father, Rev. James Robert Orr of Three Hills, Alta., concerned that the boy apparently had smallpox, put him in a doctor's care while Mrs. Orr and two other children continued on to Alberta by train.

As those who travelled in the plane from Brazil and on the train from New York were slowly being accounted for, new reports of precautionary measures became known.

Eight cars on the New York-Toronto train were withdrawn from service and fumigated. The CNR ordered the same measures for any cars which Mrs. Orr and the other children may have used on the trip to Alberta, as well as vaccinating the train crew.

Anyone who may have travelled on either train at the same time as the Orr family was advised that vaccination would be the safest procedure. Canadian doctors all have smallpox vaccine on hand, the passengers were told.

Amazing Says Medic

MONTREAL (CP)—A Brazilian doctor attending the International Congress for Microbiology said today he finds it "simply unbelievable" that a case of smallpox may have been carried to Canada from Brazil.

Rev. James Orr, father of the smallpox victim, said a Brazilian doctor gave him a certificate in the belief that he had been vaccinated often enough to have "life-time immunity."

Dr. Teichholz said: "There is no such thing as life-time immunity. This is a criminal case and we are trying to find out who was responsible."

Further Cuts Imposed On Prairie Duck Shooting

OTTAWA (CP) — Further reductions in the daily bag limits and possession limits for duck hunters in the Prairie provinces were announced Sunday in waterfowl hunting regulations for 1962.

The move reflects a sharp decline in Prairie duck populations due to near-drought conditions in nesting areas during the last 18 months.

In addition, there will be no open season for canvasback and redhead ducks this year in the five provinces where they occur — Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec.

Other limits and seasons are practically unchanged from last year. Copies of the new regulations are being printed now and will be distributed across the country within a few days.

The daily bag limit for ducks in the three Prairie provinces has been cut to four from five and the possession limit to eight from 10. The same reductions will apply to rails, coots and gallinules.

In Alberta, the bag limit for geese has also been cut to four from five and the possession limit to eight from 10. The bag limit must not include more than three white-fronts and not more than six of these may be possessed.

A campaign to make hunters familiar with the protected canvasback and redhead ducks is legal device.

'Chutes Aided Descent Of 'Heavenly Twins'

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet Union's twin astronauts revealed today that they both landed by parachute after their epic flight through space.

Maj. Andrian Nikolayev and Lt.-Col. Pavel Popovich also revealed to a press conference here that their spacecraft weighed about five tons.

And they disclosed that the closest their spacecraft came to each other during their "joint flight" was "about five kilometres"—a little more than three miles.

Popovich, asked how he had landed, said "beside my ship, like my predecessors Gagarin and Titov." Nikolayev also disclosed he baled out.

CLEAR UP QUESTIONS

The two cosmonauts thus cleared up three of the major questions unanswered since Nikolayev was launched on the morning of Aug. 11 to be joined by Popovich a little less than 24 hours later.

Earlier Soviet announcements had implied that both men landed in their spacecraft, Nikolayev after orbiting for 85 hours and Popovich 71 hours.

They landed, both in parachutes, six minutes and about 200 kilometres (about 125 miles) apart in a desert region of remote Kazakhstan last Wednesday morning.

The distance that separated them, as distinct from the time, at landing was not previously announced.

For a time Nikolayev read from notes to the correspondents, who had to submit their questions in writing. But he spoke spontaneously as he described some of his sensations and emotions while in orbit.

MOON BROUGHT JOY

"When I first saw the moon, I rejoiced," he said. "It looked more spherical than from the earth. . . . We suffered no loss of appetite. Our food was tasty and good. Before each meal, Popovich and I wished each other 'good appetite.'"

Nine Years Jail On Drug Charge

VANCOUVER (CP) — Clifford Dawley arrested a year ago, Monday was sentenced to nine years in prison on a charge of possession of narcotics for the purposes of trafficking.

County Court Judge W. D. Ferry indicated Dawley's year in custody awaiting trial had been taken into account in handing out the nine-year term.

Dawley was arrested last August when police said they found 75 capsules of heroin on his person.

Defence counsel argued that any trafficking Dawley did was to support his habit.

Dawley told the court he turned to narcotics because of a mental disturbance. He said that despite his record he had "always tried to keep a good home for my daughter and myself."

CUT TETANUS DEATHS

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (CP)—A new treatment for tetanus has cut the death rate for infected newborn babies. The treatment—based on the use of artificial respirators which pump air into the patient's lung for two or three weeks while he is kept immobile with an anti-spasmodic drug—was developed simultaneously in Cape Town and Durban.

Douglas Moves In

OTTAWA (CP)—T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, began setting up his new office in Ottawa Monday.

Mr. Douglas and his wife arrived in the capital Sunday night after a long motor trip from Saskatchewan. They are staying in a downtown hotel until their furniture arrives.

The NDP leader, who lost his bid for the Regina City seat in the June 18 federal election, is making his headquarters at Woodsworth House, the national NDP office.

Party officials are hopeful that Mr. Douglas will gain a seat in the Commons through a by-election in Burnaby-Coquitlam, the British Columbia riding where Erhart Regier has resigned to make way for Mr. Douglas. Mr. Regier retained the seat in the June vote.

Date of the by-election, however, is up to Prime Minister Diefenbaker who so far has given no indication of when he intends to call it.

The Douglases plan to move into an apartment block in central Ottawa.

Smallpox Boy Entered U.S. Without Proper Documents

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Post was quoted by The Post as saying U.S. officials conceded Monday that smallpox victim James William Orr, 14, ordinary credibility, such as was allowed into the country although he hadn't been vaccinated for five or six years and his papers were not in order.

U.S. law requires persons entering the country from abroad to show proof of immunization against smallpox within three years. Quarantine officials said the boy's parents had not been questioned on this point, The Post reports.

The boy's father, Canadian missionary James Robert Orr, arrived here by air from Brazil Aug. 11 en route to Toronto, where the boy is in hospital. Dr. Erwin Drescher, chief of quarantine at Idlewild Airport, to vaccinations.

Man-Made Space Threat Being Studied By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is studying a new man-made radiation belt to learn whether it may force a change in the astronaut program schedule.

Present evidence indicates it will not, according to a statement Monday for the defence department and the Atomic Energy Commission.

The "new radiation lies primarily above the path of current manned flights," said the statement.

The belt—produced by the U.S. high-altitude nuclear test over the Pacific July 9—varies in height from perhaps 200 miles above the earth to 500 miles. The U.S. orbits ranged from 100 to 167 miles above the earth, the Russians from 100 to 145 miles.

The belt's relatively high altitude, plus indications its radiation—principally high energy electrons—is losing potency, gave hope there would be no delay in U.S. space flight plans.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, co-operating in the radiation belt study, said it is proceeding with its schedule to launch navy Cmdr. Walter Schirra into a six-orbit flight late in September or early in October.

However, informed sources said the plans would be changed if the studies reveal unacceptable hazards.

Our Baskets Surpass Those Of Victoria

Look to your laurels, Victoria. Kelowna is closing the gap in the climatological salubrity. Not only do we come up to the level of the coastal haven for the elderly (17 per cent of their population is retired and 14 per cent of Kelowna fits the same bill) but now we surpass them botanically!

This is the opinion of the chief magistrate anyway. Mayor Parkinson said Monday the city's hanging baskets are far superior to that of the City of Victoria. The tip of Vancouver Island.

"I used to tell chief parkman Jeff Cottle how much better Victoria's baskets were in comparison to ours but not any more. "Victoria may have pioneered the hanging basket business but Mr. Cottle has done a terrific job," said the mayor.

He also pointed up that the City Park stood up well under the thousands of feet trampling ground during Regatta. "It looks almost new again," he commented.

WINFIELD—Wayne Dehnke, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dehnke of Winfield, has returned home after receiving a berth on the team of 12 Canadian cadets who leave Canada next June 30 to participate in the rifle shoot at Bisley, England.

After the competition the cadets will be taken on a tour of France, Germany and Luxembourg. A member of the B.C. Dragoons in Kelowna, Cadet Dehnke spent three weeks at Fort Osborne, Winnipeg, in training, emerging ninth in a class of 44 for western Canada at the St. Charles Rifle Range. He went on to Ottawa in a team of 20, representing western Canada at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association where 125 boys from across the nation were in competition. Three tied for first place with 610 out of a possible 675, and Dehnke placed fourth with a score of 609.

During the Ottawa shoot he was a member of an eight-man team which captured the Bull Trophy for western Canada for the first time. Cadet Dehnke was born in Bearhead, Alberta, and is 17. He attended Winfield Elementary School, Rutland, High School and is now a student at the George Elliot High School.

Winfield Indian reserve, the man pleaded guilty last week and was kept in custody for a week until his case came up.

While he was snoozing, owners of the house returned. RCMP said he had a record of vagrancy dating from 1935. Three juvenile boat thieves were caught and fined $25 for stealing D. C. Fillmore's craft from Kelowna Yacht Club. The boat valued at $1000 was observed on the lake, and with RCMP and Mr. Fillmore in pursuit, was stopped midway across the lake at Popular Point. Two of the youths were given 18 months probation and the third, one year. There was no damage to the boat.

In court yesterday, Louis Dragovan of Greenwood was fined $25 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of driving without due care and attention. Brian Carrington of Kelowna was fined $15 and cost on a charge of failing to halt at a stop sign.

David Sharples of Kelowna was prosecuted under the city's Anti-Noise by-law after he was checked at Shops Capri with noisy mufflers.

Mervin Nantini, 11, of 786 Sutherland avenue, in company with a friend, Danny Young, 10, of Salmon Arm, sighted the monster as it surfaced briefly near the bridge. Mervin called The Courier this morning, still excited from the experience. "It came up, then went down again. I saw horns," was all that Mervin could remember. He was unable to state details about length and other body characteristics because of the briefness of the appearance of Ogopogo. This is the fifth sighting this summer of the famous lake monster.

By KAY DAVIES

So much has been happening in this icy world that no writer with a nose for news could pass it up. (It also helps to have the Summer School staff breathing hotly down one's neck!)

Back in time to Kelowna's big week, from which all good Kelownians are just beginning to recover. That was, of course, Regatta week, and the skaters featured in that favorite event, the parade. On an almost disguised truck, they clustered around their paper-mache skate, waving cheery "hello's" to the crowd.

SCHOOL CONTRIBUTION

However, this mass public appearance was not the school's only contribution to that gala week. On August 7, they led (in this case "staged") is highly inappropriate) a beautiful carnival. To the delight of a good-sized audience they featured such cute trick numbers as Twists and Charleston. Yes, Sharon La Riviere, complete with a goody bag of cheved-in-advance bubble gum, did her hilarious Charleston number.

The drum, clown, Lorraine Hockley, rolled alone as a clown in one of the Twist numbers. And the two girls, unanimously voted the best ice-twisters, Sharon and Carol Lee, did a fabulous acrobatic-twist.

Besides enjoying these numbers, the audience was enthralled with the delicate grace of the featured soloists. Surely an ice show is somewhat akin to a water show, and therefore, well-fitted to Kelowna's Regatta week. This, we think, has been proven.

NOT ALL TOIL

Not all tears and toil is the skating school. Far from it, such gracious people as the E. Osweils of L'Anse au Sabie Road have seen to that. Along with the Kelowna Figure Skating Club, they threw a beach party for the girls on August 12. Their sandy beach and the warm Okanagan Lake made anything such as ice seem remote indeed.

"I've never eaten so much in my life!" was a common exclamation after a real feast of hot dogs, corn on the cob, pop, and watermelon. The next most popular cry was, "No, don't throw me in!"

Back to the ice, as this is inevitable for skaters, and the last Pop Concert. A weekly event has been the free Pop Concerts, but with tests looming near, no more can be fitted into the skaters' jammed schedule. Therefore, August 17, was the last but not least.

FINE SHOW

Favorite of the evening was Sharon La Riviere's disciple, Patsy Paulson, who powdered up her face and proceeded to dance up a swiglin' Charleston. Then Patsy came back, not to anything quite so tricky, but to lead her no-less-than-darling little sister through a series of figures. Four-year-old Kris, looking enchantingly doll-like in a frothy white outfit, delighted the audience as she carefully mimicked her sister.

To the surprise of both the audience and the participants, an impromptu duet was the "Fourteen Step" by Miss Winnie Silverthorne and Mrs. Elyanne Stenhemann, professional skaters who skated against each other in world competitions.

Soloists of the evening were Patricia Shuttly, Paul Bonenfant, Donna Howell, Bev McNair, Patsy Paulson, Linda Berger, Peg Matcham, Lois Olsen, Elizabeth Clark, Sandra Bruck, Dale Hazell, Andrea Dodds, Carol Lee, Bernadette Aubert, Sharon Lee, Katherine Kukkol and Ann Gorman.

Saturday, August 18, was the Dora's big night. All the tables in the dining room half of the Centennial Hall were pushed

Industrial Bank Branch Will Open In Kelowna

A branch of the Industrial Bank of Canada will open in Kelowna late next month if such financing is not available elsewhere on reasonable terms and conditions. The bank advises that the increasing demand on its service, particularly since Parliament amended the IDB act in June, 1961, makes it desirable to locate additional branches to maintain adequate services to the business community, and it is believed the new Kelowna branch will be a desirable step in this direction," stated the release.

Bank officials would not confirm where the new branch is to be located, but reliable information here hints that it will be at the Shops Capri.

Officials of the bank are known to have been in Kelowna recently.

Considerable local interest was evident in the Industrial Bank of Canada when one of its Vancouver officials gave an illustrated lecture to the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting held here earlier this year.

Further details will be announced later by the bank's Vancouver regional office when plans are finalized for the establishment of the Kelowna branch.

Rain Coming To Okanagan

Showers working their way across the province have put the wedge in the door of the central interior today.

Sunny skies are prevalent in the south but in the central portion an onshore circulation of moist maritime air over coastal regions has caused persistent shower activity and is heading this way.

Somewhat drier air has moved into southern coast areas in the past few hours and should eventually result in better weather for that area.

Hospital Makes City An Offer

Kelowna General Hospital offered the city part of its property as a playground.

A letter from Charles Lavery, hospital administrator on behalf of the Hospital Board, said there was land available on the east side of Abbott Street not in use at present.

The offer was referred to Jack Brow, recreation director and to the Parks and Recreation Committee.

Three Youths From Alberta Face Charges

The proprietors of the Lakeshore Cafe at Winfield were awake and alert RCMP patrols were also awake shortly after 2 a.m. today, and the result is that three juveniles from Alberta will appear in juvenile court charged with a delinquency.

Shortly after 2 a.m. the cafe proprietors reported to police their establishment had been broken into and that the three culprits had left in an old car driving towards Kelowna.

An Alberta licence number was given to police and an RCMP patrol car in the vicinity of Rutland answered the call and intercepted the Alberta car, apprehending the three youths.

Recovered were a quantity of cigarettes and approximately $50 in cash.

NEW FIRE TRUCK FOR LAKEVIEW HEIGHTS

Fire Chief Bert Seguss and volunteer firemen of the Lakeview Heights Fire Department inspected their new pumper truck which arrived here on the weekend. Delivery was made by H. Whitehouse of Abbotsford where reconditioning of the vehicle was done. It replaces the old Jeep truck kept on the VLA since 1952. The firemen had a trial run on Saturday evening at the Westside ferry wharf where Mr. Whitehouse instructed them in the use of the pump in filling the 800 gallon tank. The three hoses deliver 75 gallons were minute. The truck will be housed in the recently enlarged fire hall in the centre of the VLA Lakeview Heights.

OKANAGAN ENTRY AT THE PNE

One entry for the second in the Pacific National Exhibition District Exhibits is this one from the Okanagan Valley. It has taken the Dewar Shield for six consecutive years. The exhibit is made up of products from the entire Okanagan Valley. The PNE runs to Labor Day, September 3.

Viewer Is The Loser In Television Fight

The war between the private and the publicly-owned television networks has now spread and it would appear that the major battle will be fought between the CBC and the Board of Broadcast Governors, with the apparent cause of the war being almost forgotten—as is the case in so many wars.

The spark that started the scrap was the successful bid of the private TV network, CTV, for the broadcast rights of the professional football season, including the Grey Cup game. This was a serious blow for the publicly-owned network, CBC, which had found these football games one of its important programs during the past few years.

The private network, which operates in only some half-dozen cities, offered the Grey Cup broadcast to the CBC chain under certain conditions but this was refused. The Board of Broadcast Governors has ruled that the CBC should carry the Grey Cup games in the interest of those viewers who have no opportunity of seeing a CTV station. The CBC claims the BBG has no right to make such a ruling.

Fundamentally, that would seem to be the position at the moment. Of course, there are wider aspects and there are side issues which complicate the matter. However it would appear that the CBC is determined to challenge the authority of the BBG over it. This would now seem to be the main battle with the CTV figuratively sitting on the sidelines.

While the battle is being fought, it is the Canadian TV audience which is the sufferer. It is obvious that if the football series including the Grey Cup is carried on only eight stations in the major cities, a very large proportion of Canadian viewers will not be able to enjoy the games.

It is unlikely, for instance, that the average Canadian will concern himself too much with the niceties of the dispute between the CBC and BBG. Rather he will only appreciate that he has been deprived of one of his better programs and fashion his resentment accordingly.

Personally, we must confess our resentment is basically against the CBC. True, it was outsmarted by CTV in the bidding of the football broadcasting rights, but if the private network is willing to make the games available to the CBC, we feel the public network should carry them. In other words, our position is basically that which would seem to be held by the BBG. This is that the CBC should carry the Grey Cup game in the public interest.

The revenue—or the expense—argument is not a valid one. The CBC operates on a public subsidy—something like $70 millions last year!—and does so on the excuse of "the public interests." It would seem that the "public interests" would be better served by providing a very popular Canadian sports program to Canadian viewers, rather than by spending taxpayers' money on importing American programs during a period when this country is fully embarked upon an austerity program.

Juries On The Spot

Canada's attitude to capital punishment continues to be curiously contradictory. Capital punishment is still retained in theory and on the law books for certain types of murder, but in practice we appear to have ceased to hang murderers. Reluctance to use the rope has been apparent in the Dominion Cabinet ever since the Conservatives took office in 1957. Since the new law distinguishing between capital and non-capital murder became effective on September 1 of last year, this reluctance seems to have been shared by juries.

Last week the Cabinet commuted the death sentence passed on a man in Vancouver for the murder of a policeman. In doing so it implemented the will of the jury which, while convicting the man of capital murder, voted unanimously to recommend mercy. This is the second case in which a person convicted of capital murder has had his sentence commuted, and in the other case the jury also recommended mercy. No person has been hanged in Canada since the new law came into effect. Juries trying capital cases have also shown a marked inclination to convict accused persons on the lesser charge of non-capital murder.

When the law went into force, juries, for the first time, were saddled with a measure of direct responsibility for imposing the death sentence. The law set up a new charge of non-capital murder, and drastically reduced the number of murderers upon whom capital punishment could be imposed. Where the death sentence had formerly been mandatory for all persons convicted of murder, it became mandatory only for those convicted of planned and deliberate murder, of counselling to commit murder, or of committing murder during the commission of another crime of violence which also involved premeditation. Persons convicted of the lesser, or non-capital, charge receive a mandatory life sentence.

This section of the new law immediately removed the threat of the rope from four out of five murderers. But the law also required that where a jury convicted of capital murder, it must then retire a second time and formally consider a recommendation of mercy. The first 11 months' experience with the new approach indicates that jurors, when faced with this personal decision about capital punishment, vote against it. They convict on the lesser charge or they recommend mercy. Whatever their general theories on capital punishment may be, when it comes to putting a real rope around a real neck, they want no part of it.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

International Electrification

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.)
Correspondent
For The Daily Courier

FAIR ISLE, Scotland — The crofters who live on the remote Fair Isle, off the north coast of Scotland, have had little in the way of living comforts and amenities. Now, for the first time, they are to have electricity in the 42 houses which house all the inhabitants of this lonely island. And this is being made possible by the voluntary and unpaid labor of a team of international workers. It is a remarkable example of the type of thing which is being done through the International Voluntary Service Organization.

The work is carried on under a scheme instituted by the National Trust of Scotland to encourage the islanders to remain there by improving their amenities. The Trust has provided a grant of $15,000 to make the installation possible.

WILLING VOLUNTEERS

The unusual thing about this project, of course, lies in the fact that the work of laying cables and the conversion of old buildings into a modern plant for a 7.4 kilowatt diesel generator is all being done by voluntary labor.

Welding picks and shovels, young men and women of varied nationalities are spending their summer holidays working from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in all weathers. While working there, they are housed in disused crofts, under conditions which would not have much appeal to the average holiday-maker.

All are members of the International Voluntary Service Organization. In addition to the Fair Isle project, this organization has set up 40 other work camps in Britain this year, to carry out essential works for which money is not available for paid labor. In addition, hundreds of British volunteers have gone abroad to other countries for similar schemes.

These workers receive no money for their labor. They pay their own fares to the location where they will be working. Their only reward is that they are housed and fed. Workers from Norway, Germany, Sweden and Switzerland, some of whom are staying for the whole summer on Fair Isle, have joined with British volunteers in carrying out this project. The British volunteers include university students, school teachers and a draughtsman.

Cable linking the first of five groups of crofts, including the post office and the home of the island's only nurse, has already been laid. Two of the men living on the island are being given special training in operation and maintenance of the generators, so that there is no danger of failure in the supply of electricity.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Disturbed? Seek Help

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: About six months ago I experienced a severe mental shock. Since then I have lost a great deal of weight. I am experiencing periods of elation followed by ones of deep depression and insomnia. Everything I do is a struggle. My friends say I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown. Can this be true?—MRS. T.K.W.

Nervous breakdown is a term that means whatever the user wants it to mean. I would say that a profound psychological disturbance is a better term, although it's not very definite, either.

Nervous breakdown seems to imply a sudden, specific collapse. Yet this hardly ever happens. Psychological, or emotional, disturbances almost invariably creep up gradually.

These troubles, like catarracts, or arthritis, or emphysema, or obesity, develop so subtly that you rarely can see any particular time when they "began."

That is why as a rule they are treated later than they might be. Your perceptive letter indicates clearly enough that some sort of emotional upset is at work. How much the severe mental shock had to do with it is something we needn't bother to guess about. The point is that you are distinctly unhappy now. Your friends may well be suggesting mental breakdown just as a means of persuading you to do something about your troubles. It is not unexpected that some sudden collapse or "breakdown" is imminent because, as I said, that isn't the way these problems arise. They just keep adding up slowly, unless something is done to reverse the process.

In this instance, one easy (and correct) answer is, "See a psychiatrist. The sooner he starts, the sooner you'll begin to improve."

However, there aren't as many psychiatrists as we need, and their schedules are often full.

So that's one reason why I think you would do well, instead, to go to your regular physician without delay. If he thinks a psychiatrist is necessary in your case, he can help get prompt attention for you.

But there's another important point, too. Some of the fairly widespread emotional problems are becoming more and more familiar to physicians in general, and certain new drugs (I am thinking of the psychomotor stimulants or anti-depressants) are proving to be of remarkable value.

Depression tends to correct itself after a certain period but the patient is utterly miserable in the interim. The drugs have by now lifted many a person over this hard period.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are Vitamin C and ascorbic acid identical in citrus fruits? Does it make any difference what time of day they are eaten? With meals or between meals?—H.L.A.

Ascorbic acid is the chemical name for Vitamin C. They mean exactly the same thing. It doesn't matter what time of day you get it, but ample Vitamin C should be taken, in the form of citrus fruit, or juice, or tomato juice, or other form, daily, since a lack of it can develop more quickly than any other vitamin shortage.

NOTE TO E.M.: Girls with dark hair are, naturally, more aware of unwanted hair growth, because it shows up more. Shaving it off is a perfectly good way of getting rid of it—and it does NOT make the growth heavier. Bleaching with hydrogen peroxide is a method of making it less obvious.

OTTAWA REPORT

Election Autopsy

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Our politicians of all parties appear still to be in a state of trauma after the pounding they got from the electorate on June 18.

The great lesson to be drawn from that vote is surely that the electorate did not entrust any one party to form a government capable of enforcing its program upon Parliament. In other words, the electors bluntly told every party to go back to the drawing board, to design a new platform.

But there is little sign of any massive re-think being carried out here by any political group.

The election saw one million people withdraw their support from the Conservative party. That was exactly one quarter of the unprecedentedly large army which had swept that party in as an unprecedentedly strong government just four years earlier.

PROTEST OF RIGHT?

That withdrawal was a protest against the past policies and future program of the Conservatives. What is significantly interesting is that that protest vote did not plump for any one other political party; above all, it deliberately did not swing to its expected haven in the Liberal party. On the contrary, half of it switched to the Social Credit party; and this is very meaningful, since that was the least likely of any party to be put into the saddle of government. The balance of the protest vote was divided fairly evenly, one quarter going to the NDP and one quarter to the Liberals.

It has been argued here that this massive move of the protesters towards the Social Credit group was largely a manifestation of French-Canadian separatism. But Social Credit candidates were run in all provinces, and garnered one vote of every eight cast across Canada.

The answer may more truly lie in the belief that Social Credit is less to the left than any other Canadian political party. Of those who temporarily abandoned the Conservative party in protest, half would vote neither for the left NDP nor for the newly leftward Liberals; instead, they registered their protest by swinging to the right.

Probably there are no extreme hard-core rightists left in Canada today, except perhaps among old age pensioners from the golden vaults of Toronto's Bay Street. But there appears to be a growing army of what might be termed the radical right.

These are to be found among the intelligent Canadians, our young people, the thinking group among the progressively better educated and better paid working Canadians, who all feel that statism has gone too far.

INDEPENDENCE REBORN

There was an insistent demand for the welfare state 30 and 20 years ago; there was humanitarian insistence that no Canadian should be economically crippled by severe illness in his family, or by his inability to obtain work if he genuinely sought it, or by the burden of retired older relatives.

But more recently Canadians have begun to question the cost of today's massive scale of redistribution of earnings. We ask if we must bear this heavy taxation so that the wives of millionaires can be paid the baby bonus, and so that many neither needing nor seeking work can be paid to do nothing.

Such Canadians feel that the welfare state now provides the needed degree of social justice, and should go no further. They consider that they could decide how to spend a larger share of their own earnings, better than the government can do so when it has taken it away as taxes. Many too obviously believe that state interference in our lives has gone too far too irritatingly. A vivid example of a prudent withdrawal from such intrusion was the Ontario government's abolition of the irritant and ineffective annual permit to buy liquor.

Some observers here suggest that the great Canadian frontier spirit of independence is dead; that our strong wartime mood of nationalism has petered out; that we would willingly submit to increasing government regimentation. Others argue that the election marked the protest by a strong "radical right."

VICTORIA MERRY-GO-ROUND

Tourists Crowd, Money Rolls In

By JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA—I don't know how you're doing in the rest of the province, but here in your fair capital city we're swamped by tourists—and how we love those nice American dollars. All my life I've lived in Victoria, and so I'm used to tourists, and I like them, for they pep us up, but I've never, never seen anything like the flood that has engulfed us this year, thanks to the World's Fair in Seattle.

It's a pleasant, exciting struggle to get through Government Street. The stores are jammed, but the merchants say they merely provide free museums for the tourists because, say the merchants, the tourists aren't buying much, they're just looking. However, I pay no attention to that, knowing that merchants, for some reason, always talk that way.

Two "Princess" liners bring 4,000 people a day from Seattle. The ferry slips are jammed, and queues of cars pile up in the main streets. Several thousand rubber-necks a day pour through the Legislative Buildings, on whose lawns the tourists sprawl and take off their shoes to rest their poor aching feet.

Tourists fall all over themselves in the Museum, there's so many of them. They picnic in Beacon Hill Park, and on the waterfront. The horse-drawn trolley-buses never had it so good. School buses have been taken from their summer vacation to haul the crowds. Our visitors drive through the grounds of Government House, the Americans thinking it very odd that a Lieutenant-Governor is appointed, not elected. But I tell them that's not nearly as quaint a custom as our Senate. You don't elect Senators? No, we appoint them, and they sit there until they're 75 at $10,000 a year, and when they retire they get a pension. Well fancy that! I always delight in telling Americans about our Senate. I think they think I'm fooling.

The dear old Empress Hotel is throbbing as it never throbbed before. There's a "no vacancy" sign out each night. The carpets have been worn just about threadbare. I've actually seen cigarette butts on those carpets. There are constant queues in the Empress for coffee shop and dining room. The famed Empress tea and crumpets are served in three shifts, starting at 1:30 p.m. Old-time Victorians say the Empress no longer has any tone, but I look at it this way: what's the good of tone in a morgue, and that's what the Empress was becoming until manager Cyril Chapman gave it a hefty shot of jazz.

There are so many Canadian tourists here this year that we're all bewildered. Time was when tourists were always Americans; we prided ourselves that it was easy to tell an American. But now, if you should point to a fat lady in slacks or shift, and say: "Those dreadfully loud Americans," chances are you'll find the lady comes from Calgary or Saskatoon. How do you tell an American from a Canadian anyway? Quite frankly I never can—merely by looking. They all look alike to me.

Certainly it has been a lively summer in Victoria, what with Centennial events, and the hordes of visitors. I can't quite believe it's my native Victoria; for seven nights 6,000 people a night went to the excellent Centennial pageant; for seven nights 8,000 people a night went to a combined effort by an American circus and the famed RCMP Musical Ride—a combination which caused some of the die-harders to splutter and write indignant letters to the editor. This is Victoria, isn't it?

Student Increase Poser

TORONTO (CP)—The greatest danger facing Canadian education is that the standards of universities might collapse as the universities try to cope with the mushrooming student enrollment, Dr. Murray Ross said.

Dr. Ross, president of York University, proposed the establishment of junior colleges with limited curricula and minimum organization.

During the next eight years, he told a directors' luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition, Ontario will need $470,000,000 to provide "places" for students.

He said the money must be raised by creating "education consciousness" in Canada, which stands a poor 11th among the nations of the world in the proportion of university students to population.

Family Assembles For Funeral Of Mrs. J. Bashan Of Westbank

WESTBANK — Here at the weekend for the funeral of their mother, Mrs. J. (Ethel Ellen) Bashan were her sons and daughters from the coast. These included Mr. and Mrs. Philip Basham, Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Basham, North Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Northeast, South Burnaby and Mrs. Jack Sullivan, North Burnaby.

From Penticton came Mr. Basham's brother, Ernest Basham; a sister, Mrs. Annie Adams and a nephew, Bill Gibb. Mr. and Mrs. Basham are old-timers of both Penticton and Westbank, and at the time of their marriage 54 years ago their was the second marriage certificate issued in Penticton following incorporation.

SCHOOLFELLOWS IN ENGLAND
They were acquainted years before that, however, having been schoolfellows in Essex, England, where, following her school days, Mrs. Basham became a children's nurse. Mrs. Basham emigrated to Canada, his fiancée following later to be married in Penticton July 31, 1908.

They moved to Westbank in 1913, and except for three years in Vancouver, 1943-46, made their home in Westbank until 1953. During that time Mrs. Basham could always be relied on for assistance when first-aid was needed. During the visit of King George VI to Vancouver in 1939, Mr. Basham was one of the members of St. John's Ambulance Association to be called to the coast city for duty as a first-aid assistant.

RECEIVED CITATION
For his long years of service in first-aid work Mr. Basham received a citation from Vincent Massey, Prior of the Most Venerable Order of Hospitals of St. John of Jerusalem Priory of Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Basham returned to Penticton to make their home in 1953, where in 1958, B.C.'s Centennial Year, they were given a place of honor in Penticton's parade as "Newlyweds" of Penticton's early days. They moved back to Westbank late last year to make their home with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Basham.

Mrs. Basham died in Kelowna General Hospital Thursday, Aug. 18, aged 78. Mr. Matthew Pollock, of Vancouver, conducted the funeral service on Saturday, interment following in Westbank cemetery. Pallbearers were H. B. Ewer, A. E. Hewlett, R. J. Lynn, A. C. Shetler and Ted Fiedler, all of Westbank, and Matthew Pollock, of West Summerland.

PAINTINGS BY MEN OF KELOWNA

By SAKULIKA
"Paintings by Men of Kelowna" is the title of the exhibition on view this week in the library and there is some very good work.

The men who painted these pictures are for the most part amateurs who paint for enjoyment and who lives are full of other occupations. One begins to see the result of the excellent art classes which are held here in the winter under the Adult Education Programme.

There is a striking portrait of Mr. Fable of Okanagan Mission, which may be the result of one of these classes, and there are some new artists whose work one is glad to see and whose progress can be watched with interest. Among these are Mr. Charlie Patrie and Mr. C. Nash who both show great promise. Mr. Nash certainly has a rare gift of catching a likeness.

Mr. Harry Perkins has portrayed a very convincing winter scene which is a much larger work than he generally produces, and there are three portraits by W. Ackersland which are of professional standard.

Mr. Bob Bennett's work is a striking example of modern art, and Mr. Jack MacLennan has two most attractive paintings in the exhibit. He is one of the few people who has found an original style which is quite different to anyone else's. Mr. G. C. MacLennan's delicate watercolors are perhaps the best we have seen of his work in this tone, and Mr. Tasker's pictures are well known. Perhaps the oil painting is new to us, this coloring and perspective are excellent.

Mr. Wildmeyer has caught the spirit of the local scenes, especially the change of seasons, and his Red Barn is typical and very colorful. Mr. Eldard's drawing is good, but possibly the coloring in a scene like this has been confined to too few shades.

Three paintings on the end wall are unsigned. Here again two scenes are over colored. The small scene is good, but the other two pictures are evidently copied as they depict sailing ships of a past age. However well done, copies should not be hung in an exhibition of original paintings.

The little Christmas card by R. Graham, reduced from a larger sketch has a very personal and intimate interest to the many friends of the family.

Subdued Colors Forecast For Fall Shoes

Colors for fall are far more subdued than in the past with the main accent on blending. A new avant guard shade which will be seen occasionally is called "green", a blending of green and brown that looks like green tea.

Blacks rank first in popularity with deep rich dark browns second. A few styles will be shown in red, and antiquing treatments or color - on - color effects will be featured for suit and tailored shoes.

For the luxury look, shoes of brocade, satin, silk, metallic and embroidered mesh will be shown, and there will be continued use of gold.

Look For A Decent Job

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 26, divorced, have a pleasant face and a better than average figure. I must work to support myself and my son. I became a dance instructor two years ago but have graduated to a better-paying type of work which is hard to explain in a letter.

As part of my job I used to accompany my pupils to parties, night clubs, or wherever they wished to go to show off their dancing. Now I do very little dancing. Most of the time I accompany men to various places where they want a female companion. The dance studio gets a percentage of my fee.

I make good money but I work a very long day, or I should say night. My job is not as glamorous as it sounds. I must spend a fortune on clothes as my appearance is my stock in trade. I often have to put up with real slobs—most of them married men.

The worst of it is, I find myself lying about what I do for a living. I feel uncomfortable around decent people and want to quit this life. But I'm not trained for any other kind of work and I can't afford to be unemployed. Please give me some common-sense advice. —BETTY

Evangelist Holds Miracle Revival Meetings

TORONTO (CP)—Asa Alonzo Allen, a tent evangelist from Arizona, is still packing Toronto's Palace Pier—usually a gay centre of dancing and partying—with his "miracle revival" meetings.

There are three sessions a day with as many as 1,000 attending a single session. The meetings end this weekend.

Several persons have been "treated" by the "laying on of hands" common in faith healing circles. One such was Mrs. Betty Wheeler of Midland, Mich. who suffers from arthritis.

Advertisements for Mr. Allen's appearance described him as "God's man of faith and power." The advertisements said "thousands testify to miraculous deliverance from: Sickness, disease, demon possession, mental oppression, insanity, narcotics, dope, etc."

At that time Aid. Jack Davis said he was strictly against giving financial aid to the chamber for this purpose. He reiterated Aid. Franklyn Valair's stand that the city should not spend public funds on activities "of this sort."

Cost of sending Mr. Biggar to Vancouver and drive his own car in the parade was $136.37, paid for by float committee chairman Hicks.

Mr. Biggar said: "Nothing went right for us at the Coast."

Rain reduced the decorations on the convertible to "nothing." The blue coloring in the crepe paper began to run down the side of the car. It looked awful. "I telephoned Mr. Hicks from Vancouver Saturday and tried to scratch our entry from the parade because it looked so bad, but he (Hicks) told me 'we're paying for this, it had better go in the parade'. So, looking like the poor relative of the Okanagan I drove Vernon's royalty down the two-hour parade route in continuous rain, behind the fabulous Kelowna, Penticton and Armstrong floats. We looked a mess."

Mr. Biggar said on more than one occasion, people stopped him and asked: "Where is the float?" Members of the Vernon Girls Trumpet Band and Vernon McIntosh Pipe Band, which both drew praise in the parade, queried the whereabouts of the float.

Mr. Biggar said Vernon should not lower its standards at major parades with half-hearted attempts. He called on local merchants to support a float worthy of Vernon, and be identified, said it was original.

valley agreed with the Okanagan Valley Tourist Association that the Kelowna Regatta float would be marked Okanagan instead of Kelowna when not appearing in the Valley. He also charged Penticton with "breaking unity in the Valley" by first sending its float to Wenatchee as a festival float.

"Save-Your-Hair Day" Set For Tomorrow

FOR BALDING HEADS LIKE THESE, a "Save-Your-Hair Day" has been announced. As long as you have some hair, trichologist M. D. Harrison says you have an excellent chance to grow thicker hair by new methods of home treatment.

How many times have you heard men attempt to explain their loss of hair with one of these remarks:

"Oh, baldness runs in my family, so I just have to accept it." ... or "Well, it's natural for a man to lose his hair as he gets along in years." ... or "If you're going to be bald, you're going to be bald, and there's nothing you can do about it."

So many men have said such things for so many hundreds of years, these old ideas are still widely believed. But they are not supported by modern knowledge.

True, some few men do inherit a scalp structure that may predispose to early baldness. But any such tendency can be overcome by proper hair care.

As for the excuse of age, it is established now that men's hair naturally grows fastest in the years from 35 to 65. And certainly much can be done to stop hair loss, as the careful records kept by Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists prove.

"Actually, the two most common causes of baldness," says hair expert M. D. Harrison, "are neglect and mistreatment of the hair."

Don't Resign Yourself
"Most men just don't take care of their hair. Consequently, they don't get very far along in life without hair trouble. They become 'balding' ... then just plain bald. And usually do nothing about it except perhaps experiment with some 'tonics' and cure-alls."

This famous authority urges that you do not resign yourself to baldness unless you are already bald.

As a feature of "Save-Your-Hair Day" Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists offer a free consultation service.

All you have to do is take your questions in person to their suite in the Royal Anne Hotel and let trichologist M. D. Harrison, the Harrison expert, give you a complete examination.

These are the questions most people want information about:

1. How often should you wash your hair?
2. Which kind of shampoo is best for you?
3. Is brushing necessary?
4. What about dry or oily scalp?
5. Are "tonics" helpful?
6. When is dandruff dangerous to hair growth?
7. Can your hair be thickened?
8. What are home treatments like?

ROAMIN' WITH ROBIN

By ROBIN BROWN

Kelowna baseball fans seem to be a pretty loyal and vocal group especially when the Labatts are faced with more than their share of obstacles to surmount. . . . Take Sunday's game in Vernon for instance.

The boys arrived in Polson Park full of grim determination to show their previous night's rather sodden performance was just a one in a thousand affair. They were really brimming over with confidence and just itching to get out on the field and go. . . . Alas! this was not to be—for an hour or so anyway.

Polson Park bore a strange resemblance to the Normandy beaches on June 6, 1944 when we arrived on the scene.—Must have come to the wrong place, flashed through our mind—THIS just can't be the place!

For there, on the somewhat bare and lumpy surface of the ball field, was what look like a miniature version of what we might call the "Chaos at Caen."

There must have been thousands (well hundreds anyway) of those PEE Wee soldier types from Vernon's cadet camp charging madly hither and thither stringing wires across, and hammering massive spikes into the infield.

We stood aghast for several minutes drinking in this happy scene of make believe carnage—Steady the Buffs, Bring up the Guns! and all that sort of jazz—until we turned away shaken to the core only to find we were hardly alone drinking in all this military strategy etc.—for there in the stands sat a decidedly disenchanted group—the Kelowna Labatts!

Hastening to get the lowdown on the situation on the Polson front, we came across a rather curiously attired group holding a summit conference in an amiable manner at the other end of the grandstand.

Creeping to within earshot through a somewhat lax security setup (we think it was a bat boy) we gleaned the following top secret information.

But first, the group—Three very downcast looking gents in baseball uniforms (two Vernon and one Kelowna), one nattily turned out Captain and two multi-clad but definitely military types and one irate Vernonite.

It seems the military had the foresight to reserve the field for some indefinite purpose as far back as March this year—they also had a letter of confirmation of the date, received one week ago to back up their squatter's rights.

Some poor nameless chattel of the Luckies just went ahead with plans to play there Sunday without checking on the availability of the disputed tract of land (still under heavy attack from the pee wees).

The army was adamant at first—they had the field and they were going to do whatever it was they were doing with it so there was nothing to do for the time being but to make a strategic withdrawal and regroup our troops.

We were in the process of building up morale (i.e. making numerous caustic remarks about people in uniforms, except of course baseball uniforms), when the military suddenly collapsed from the strain of the whole thing and beat a hasty retreat from whence they had come to fine accompaniment of car horns, caustic comments and ribald rantings from the stands.

Anyway the Kelowna cheering section benefited greatly by the pre-game warmup and carried right on from the outset of the actual game and, in our opinion, succeeded in drowning out a numerically superior force of Vernon rooters which aided our heroes greatly in winning the battle of the diamond.—After that performance we feel it only right at this time to doff the old lid to those hardy fans as well as the competitors.

23-Game Loser
Still Smiles

... Sometimes!

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob (Righty) Miller of New York Mets still can manage a weak smile and a little joke even though he's burning inside at his sorry pitching record of 0-10 and 13 losses in a row over the last two years.

"Sure, I'm discouraged," said Miller today. "It's only human. I have a mental barrier. When you go to the ball park ready to pitch you have to be in a mood—mad and confident."

"I am mad enough, but it's hard to get confident when you've been going like I am."

But the last game he won was more than a year ago, April 17, 1961, when he recorded his sole victory of that season for the Cards over Los Angeles Dodgers.

He was charged with Monday night's 6-3 loss to Pittsburgh Pirates that pushed his total into double figures and the Mets' latest losing streak to 12. Worse yet, his last complete game was on Sept. 3, 1959.

"Now, of course, I realize I am pressing," he continued. "But who wouldn't be in my spot?"

Would it relax him if he won a game?

"I'd like to win one and find out."

Said manager Casey Stengel: "He had good stuff against the Pirates (He pitched five innings and was clipped for four runs and five hits). I don't know what to do with him."

FREESE SCORES TYING RUN

Robbie's Grand Slam Downs LA Dodgers 7-3

Cincinnati Reds' 7-3, 10-inning National League victory over Los Angeles Dodgers Monday night would gladden the heart of any Redleg fan.

First, there was Gene Freese. Making his first start since he fractured his right ankle in a spring training accident, the hard-hitting third baseman raced home on a still weak leg with a key run in the seventh inning and drove in the tying run with a ninth inning bloop single to centre.

Then, there was Frank Robinson. Last year's most valuable player came up with the bases loaded in the 10th inning and cracked a towering shot that sailed over a 50-foot screen in left field for the game-winner.

For Robinson it was the 17th homer in 25 games dating back to July 27. Since then he has hit two homers in one game four times, tagged three grand slams and accounted for 35 runs batted in.

The victory moved the third place Reds back to within 5½ games of the first-place Dodgers, who maintained a 3½-game edge over second-place San Francisco Giants. Milwaukee Braves walloped the Giants 9-4.

The dramatic events at Cincinnati began in the seventh inning when Freese singled and sped home on a double by Don Zimmer, bringing the Reds within a run of the Dodgers, who had built an early lead on back-to-back homers by Willie and Tommy Davis. In the ninth, Robinson singled, moved up on a sacrifice and scored the tying run when Freese singled. Bob Purkey, who brought his record to 19-4, held the Dodgers in the 10th to set the stage for the final fireworks.

Tommy-Joe Tops WFC Race

Edmonton Eskimos lost their Western Football Conference game to Saskatchewan Roughriders Monday night in Regina, but Tommy-Joe Coffey took a giant leap to the top of the scoring standings.

Coffey, back with Edmonton after a year's layoff, scored a touchdown, which he converted, and kicked a single for eight points to bring his three-game total to 31. He has three touchdowns, two field goals, five converts and two singles.

In second place, after two games, is Winnipeg Blue Bomber end Farrell Fustion with four touchdowns for 24 points.

Davis Cup Match Won By Mexicans

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico wrapped up a 4-1 victory over Yugoslavia in the American Davis Cup tennis final Sunday by splitting the two final singles matches.

Nikola averted a shutout for the Yugoslavs by defeating Mexican captain Pancho Gonzalez, 6-2, 6-2, 9-7. Mexican champion Mario Llamas turned back Yugoslavia's Vladimir Presccki, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1, in the other match.

Canadiens Will Play 10 Exhibition Games

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens will play 10 exhibition games within 15 days, all against minor league opposition before opening their 1962-63 National Hockey League schedule in Boston Oct. 11.

The pre-season schedule, released Monday by Vice-President Ken Reardon, includes five games against Hull-Ottawa of the Eastern Professional Hockey League, the Canadiens' ton farm club.

The other games will be against Syracuse and Kingston of the EPHL and Quebec, Rochester and Cleveland of the American Hockey League.

The first one is set for Sept. 23 at Syracuse.

The Canadiens have invited 51 players, including 16 hold-overs from last year's regular squad, to their training camp, starting Sept. 12 at the suburban Verdun Auditorium.

Attending the camp will be four goalies — Jacques Plante, Cesare Maniago, Charlie Hodge and Ernie Wakely — 14 defencemen, 11 centres, 11 rightwingers and 11 leftwingers.

Providing all of last season's regulars hold their jobs, there are only two vacant spots on the squad. The vacancies were created by the off-season sale of defenceman Al MacNeil to Chicago Black Hawks and the retirement of leftwinger Marcel Bonin.

Last season, the Canadiens won a fifth straight NHL title, but bowed out to the Black Hawks in the Stanley Cup semifinals for the second consecutive year.

Lions Down Calgary Riders Upset Eskies

British Columbia Lions, Larry Robinson and a single by and Saskatchewan Roughriders came up with a pair of surprising and impressive Western Football Conference victories Monday night, the Riders defeating the league-leading Edmonton Eskimos 17-9 and the Lions dumping Calgary Stampede 12-4.

The wins left Edmonton, B.C. and Saskatchewan tied on points in first place in the five-team league, although B.C. and Edmonton have played only three games and Saskatchewan four.

After being plagued by knee injuries last season and being traded to B.C. by the Stampede, quarterback Joe Kapp took B.C. into Calgary to strut his stuff and avenge last week's 35-20 defeat by Stampede.

He fired an 11-yard touchdown pass to former San Jose State speedster Mack Burton for the only touchdown of the game and took the team close enough for Vic Kristopaitis to boot a field goal and alternate quarterback Bob Schloest to add two singles. Kristopaitis also converted Burton's touchdown.

Calgary points were scored on a field goal by defensive half-

Dennis Weaver.

In the meantime, Saskatchewan was avenging a 22-7 defeat at the hands of the Eskimos last week in Edmonton and giving Edmonton its first loss in three starts this season. Riders, under quarterback Bob Placek, who played the first two games as a corner linebacker, ground out 27 first downs and 347 yards on the ground.

The big guns in their potent ground attack were halfbacks Ray Purdin of Northwestern and Joe Gray of Maryland, who scored touchdowns, and veteran fullback Ferd Burket, who booted four singles. Reg Whitehouse added a convert.

End Tommy-Joe Coffey, switched to halfback to replace injured Bobby Walden, carried most of the load for Edmonton. He scored eight of their points on a touchdown, a convert and a single when he missed an early field goal attempt. Punting end Vic Chapman added a single in the last quarter.

With crashing fullback John Bright out of action with a sore leg, Edmonton managed to pick up only 79 yards on the ground.

By comparison, Gray picked up 143 yards in 16 carries, Purdin 139 in 16 carries and Burket 84 in 14 carries.

The next conference action is Thursday night in Winnipeg when the Canadian champion Blue Bombers and Toronto Argonauts tangle in the first interlocking game of the season.

Willows Nip Caps 15-12 To Take Lead In Series

Willow Inn Willows won their second straight game in the clubbing one home and P. Wengert's Senior Softball round robin series Monday night as they edged the Blue Caps 15-12 in a rain-marred game at King's Stadium. They dumped the Rutland Trovers 8-2 Sunday night in Rutland.

In last night's encounter Willows picked up 12 hits to the Caps' 10 but made only two errors to the Caps' four as Wally Schn picked up the win and helped his own cause by getting three hits in four trips to the plate. Henry Hansen took the loss for the Caps.

Big hitters for the winners, together with Schn, were A.

Rieger with three for five including one home and P. Wengert also with a homer. J. Duzlik and Nick Bulach each collected three hits in five trips for the Caps.

Next action in the round robin will be tonight when the Caps play the Rovers in Rutland. Next game for the Willows will be Wednesday night in King's when the Rovers are the victors. Starting time for both these games is 6:30 p.m.

Sluggers Win All Three PCL Monday Games

Home runs won all three games in the Pacific Coast League Monday night.

The closest saw Vancouver Mounties edge Seattle Rainiers 2-1 in Vancouver in the last meeting of the two clubs this year.

San Diego Padres defeated Hawaii Islanders 7-4 in Honolulu and took another step towards clinching the PCL pennant. They lead second-place Salt Lake City by 13 games.

The Bees, meanwhile, dropped a 6-2 decision at home to the Tacoma Giants.

The Padres' John Tsitouris ran his record to 12 wins against six losses in a nine-hit effort against the Islanders, but the difference came with the swinging of Harry Anderson and Jim Pinson, who both hit homers.

While reliever Bruce Swango put down Seattle rallies in the eighth and ninth innings, Vancouver's Jay Ware ran home with the winning run on an eighth-inning smash over Capilano Stadium's left field wall at the 350-foot mark.

Swango came on for Al Schroll in the eighth with one out and the bases loaded. He walked a run in with his first four pitches then retired the side with a strikeout and double-play ball.

Again in the ninth Seattle threatened, this time with runners at first and third and one out. But Swango struck out the next batter and got pinch-hitter Joe Pedrazzini to ground into a forced play.

Dick Gernert carried the batting load for Tacoma, homering twice to send four of the

New Move On Berlin Likely To Be Cooking

BERLIN (AP)—Lack of news about Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist leader, has brought speculation that he and Soviet Premier Khrushchev are working out some new move on Berlin.

Whatever the move might be, it probably would be bad news for West Berliners. Just the silence about Ulbricht is enough to worry many people.

Ulbricht and his No. 2 man, Acting Premier Willi Stoph, the East German highway between West Berlin and West Germany to Ulbricht's regime. Last year Ulbricht also made a mid-summer trip to the Soviet Union. Two weeks later the Communists closed the Berlin zonal border and began building the wall.

The other three powers that occupied Germany after the Second World War—the United States, Britain and France—are opposed to signing any treaty with East Germany, whose regime they do not recognize.

VERSIONS DIFFER

The Soviet newspaper said the two were passing through Kiev on their way to a vacation. But in East Berlin the official Communist daily Neues Deutschland said nothing about any vacation and emphasized they were talking with high Soviet officials.

That could be just vanity on the part of the East German regime. It could also mean that the German Communists were trying to put through political action and that Khrushchev was less interested.

Since Aug. 4 there has been no word of Ulbricht's and Stoph's activities.

Now Khrushchev is back in Moscow.

Authoritative predictions have been heard that Khrushchev will go to the United Nations General Assembly in New York this fall. Speculation followed in Moscow that he might sign a separate peace treaty with Ulbricht and then try to get UN approval.

U.K. Nazis Jailed

LONDON (CP)—Colin Jordan, leader of the National Socialist Party Monday was sentenced to two months in jail following conviction on charges under the Public Order Act.

Sentenced to six weeks under the same charges was John Tyndall, national secretary of the party which has an anti-Jewish, anti-colored platform and affects Nazi-style uniforms.

The charges resulted from a public rally Jordan held here last month in which violent opposition to him touched off a near-riot and the arrest of dozens of demonstrators.

Opening lead—jack of spades. All players occasionally suffer from blind spots. For one reason or another they fail to see some simple play that is right before their eyes. Once it is pointed out to them, they see it all right, but it is then too late to do anything about it.

Take this hand, for example. West led a spade. Declarer won it in dummy with the queen and led the ten of clubs and finessed, losing to the queen.

West shifted his attack to diamonds, leading the ten. South took it with the ace and led the jack of clubs. West grabbed the ace and led another diamond. Declarer ducked, but then had to win the continuation with the king.

As a result of these plays, South wound up with three spade tricks, two hearts, two diamonds and a club, and went down one. But, of course, he should have made the hand.

He made the fatal error at trick two when he led the ten of clubs and let it ride. As a result he wound up with a good club trick in dummy that he was unable to cash for lack of an entry.

South would no doubt have made the hand easily if he had happened to hold the Q-J-x of clubs instead of the K-J-x. In that case he would surely have forced out the A-K with the Q-J to establish two tricks, and this would have been enough to land the contract.

But the presence of the K-J and the opportunity to finesse against the queen blinded him to the realities of the situation. It was all right to win the first spade in dummy and lead a club, but he should have played the jack from his hand in order not to block the suit while dummy had an entry.

If he had done this, no lie of the cards could have defeated him. All he needed to make the hand was to concede two club tricks, and he should not have been deluded from this course by the illusory K-J.

The tunnel was started in 1959, and the point where this picture was taken is 9,000 feet below the summit of the mountain.

Senate Group Approves JFK Drug Bill Revision

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate judiciary committee today approved unanimously President Kennedy's proposed revision of a pending drug bill, saying the changes would provide safe and, in some instances, cheaper medicines for the public. Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem., Tenn.), chief sponsor of the bill, released a statement after the vote declaring that the measure "should not only result in better, safer and more effective drugs, but in addition should provide physicians with honest information concerning their (the medicines') properties and prevent the dissemination of false and misleading information to doctors." Kefauver said the amendment follows closely language requested by Kennedy. Kefauver had protested that a drug bill previously approved by the committee and still pending on the Senate calendar had been "watered down" to a point of "shocking" inadequacy. The committee's approval came as a House committee opened hearings on another drug control bill, an administration measure to provide controls on the manufacturing, testing, packaging, labelling and marketing of drugs. Eugene N. Beesley, chairman of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Association, cautioned the House body against emotionally inspired regulations that could destroy the drug-making industry.

JOIN CONGO OR . . .

Tshombe Given New Ultimatum

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Acting Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations has given Katanga province President Moise Tshombe a week to 10 days to accept a new UN program to unify the Congo peacefully. If Tshombe rejects the overture, Thant announced Monday night, he will ask all UN members to turn the economic screws on Katanga and quit

Psychopath Surrenders

VANCOUVER (CP)—A criminal psychopath surrendered quietly to police in the Vancouver Province editorial room Monday night after escaping for the second time from Essondale Mental Hospital. Paul McCullough, 24, walked into the editorial room and told city editor Tom Hazlitt: "I want to tell my story and I want to give myself up." While waiting for police to arrive, McCullough, a former Montreal resident, talked quietly with a French agent, nervously smoked a cigarette and then broke down sobbing. "I'm not sick. I feel fine," he said. "I don't want to run away from the law. I want to get my release legally but I don't want to spend the rest of my life in Essondale." McCullough, in custody for attempted murder, said he slipped away from nearby Essondale Hospital "when the guard went to look after someone else."

buying Katanga copper and cobalt. There is considerable doubt that Belgium and Britain, two of Katanga's chief customers, would comply. Thant's program calls for adoption of a federal constitution to be drafted in the next 30 days, agreement to share the royalties from Katanga's rich mines with the impoverished central government, currency unification and integration of Katanga forces into the Congolese army in 90 days.

Thant called for all member governments, meanwhile, to bar all unauthorized movements of mercenaries or any military material to the Congo.

Thant's statement said Tshombe "should be able to indicate his acceptance promptly . . . in a brief period." An authorized UN source said the secretary-general meant a week or 10 days.

Britain has opposed extreme economic sanctions but a British spokesman said the delegation here would have no comment now.

"It is Mr. Thant's own statement," he said. "We made known our views about the proposals but had nothing to do with the writing of it. It will be studied."

Thant strongly hinted that if all other measures fail, he will ask the Security Council to authorize stronger action.

"Should progress toward a solution not come quickly," Thant said, "I am inclined to believe that the United Nations, both because of a virtually inevitable deterioration in the Congo or to go to the other extreme of specifically authorizing the UN in the Congo to seek, by all necessary measures, to end Katanga efforts at secession."

Festival At Dawson City Success But Some Hitches

DAWSON CITY, Y.T. (CP)—Residents of this Klondike town are generally agreed that a bright future is in store for the Dawson City Gold Rush Festival which ended its first seven-week run Saturday. However, it may take some time and a "lot of hard work." This year's effort, regarded by many as too ambitious an undertaking, had its difficulties, financial and otherwise. These problems will be studied in the weeks ahead as the Festival Foundation's board of directors meets to plan for next year.

Some of the troubles which beset the festival following its July 1 start are unlikely to recur. For one thing, restoration work on the Palace Grand Theatre and the Keno riverboat, feature attractions of the festival, was not completed in time for the opening. Make shift accommodation and eating facilities were unable at first to cope with the heavier flow of visitors to the town. Even at the festival's end visitors complained of delays in obtaining service in cafes.

MAJOR JOBS DONE

Next year the Palace Grand and the Keno will be in shape at the start of the festival for whatever activities are planned. Local manpower, a strictly limited resource, will be available for other jobs. Work can continue on a less frantic pace on the restoration of Dawson City as a national historic site. Costs are also less of a problem. Restoration of the Palace Grand and the Keno cost about $400,000. Building of a few false fronts for existing buildings and the restoration of half a dozen other structures—the post office, the Presbyterian church and a number of old stores—is expected to run to $100,000, of which part may be paid by interested private donors.

Another problem which not likely will have to be faced next year is that of paying for an expensive musical production like Foxxy. The show, starring veteran comedian Bert Lahr and a New York cast, ran to poor houses at the Palace Grand and, when all the bills are paid, will have had a net cost of more than $400,000.
